of Money

Financial affairs, you have to learn to think in a financial context. You need to understand your liabilities and assets ... what you owe and what you own. Your assets must be managed. As soon as you make saving part of your life, you must control your finances. You will learn that if the scale tips in your favor, you are in control. And if you manage to tip the scale to the asset side, you are in control. It is all about priority around you.
